U.N. Rebuffs Kremlin Move For Mideast Intervention

Proposal Would Team U.S., USSR To Halt Fighting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 5 (P)—Israel informed the U. N. tonight that "since this morning, Nov. 5, all fighting ceased between Israel and Egyptian forces on land, sea and air."

The message, addressed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, added that "full quiet prevails."

It said that Israel had agreed "unconditionally" to a cease-fire and had ordered all Israeli defense forces to observe the cease-fire scrupulously.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 5 (P)—The U. N. Security Council tonight refused to consider a Soviet request for the United States and the Soviet Union to intervene in the Middle East fighting.

The refusal was registered when the Council declined to approve an agenda suggested by the Soviet Union. Only the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia and Iran voted for the agenda.

The United States, Britain, France and Australia voted against it.

Belgium, Peru, Cuba, and Nationalist China abstained on the agenda vote.

This killed the Russian proposal. Unless the Council puts it on the agenda it cannot be formally discussed.

After the ballot, U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the Council that the Soviet proposal "embodies the unthinkable suggestion that Soviet military forces together with those of the United States should intervene in Egypt unless the fighting stops within 12 hours."

U.N. "Acting On Situation"

"This would convert Egypt into a still larger battlefield," Lodge said. "The fact is that the United Nations Assembly has acted and is acting on the situation in Egypt."

Lodge said the course proposed by the Soviet Union would run counter to what Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and the Assembly are doing. For those reasons, he said, the United States could not possibly support the Soviet move.

Ardaky A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate, insisted that the Council must act despite reports from Hammarskjold that Egypt and Israel have agreed to the cease-fire proposals and that Britain reported a cease-fire in the Port Said area and a halt to bombing throughout Egypt.

The Soviet Union plan would have had the two great powers step into the Egyptian fighting unless the British, French and Israeli forces withdraw from Egypt within three days.

Sobolev told the Council the main responsibility for any spread of the conflict or deterioration of the situation would rest on those who voted against putting the item on the agenda, and principally, he said, upon the United States.

"Unthinkable" Proposal

This was a key provision of a resolution which Russia laid before a special meeting of the U. N. Security Council called hurriedly at the request of the Soviet delegation.

The White House already had issued a statement in Washington calling the proposal "unthinkable."

The Soviet resolution, circulated shortly before the 11-nation Council convened, proposed that Russia and the United States be authorized to send air and naval units, as well as volunteer ground forces, into the Middle East fighting on the side of Egypt.

Resistance Pockets Waning In Hungary

Guns, Pleas, Threats Used By Russians

VIENNA, Nov. 5 (P)—The Russians used guns, pleas and threats against rebel holdouts tonight in an effort to snuff out the last breath of Hungary's freedom.

A new battle was reported shaping up at Dunapentele, in the Danube valley south of Budapest, as surviving rebels appeared generally to ignore a broadcast Soviet ultimatum demanding surrender by 6 p.m. under threat of court-martial.

Remnants of the freedom fighters, decimated by the Soviet attacks Sunday which put most of the country again under the Kremlin's thumb, fought on in isolated actions.

Denied the material help for which they had begged the West, they were in most cases so cut off that not even Western words of sympathy could reach them.

"They have stood their ground with honor against the Russian troops," said rebel Radio Rakoczy in pinpointing industrial Csepel Island, in the Danube just south of Budapest; the city of Kecskemet, 50 miles southeast of Budapest, as centers of continued fighting.

But the situation is "growing desperate," it said. "Very little ammunition is left." It reported some hospitals were burning and asked, in a message relayed by Radio Free Europe in Munich, for help from the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

"Some Russian units marching on the capital have been encircled by us," said Radio Rakoczy.

"In many places they have built barricades along the road. Desperate fighting is going on."

Whereabouts of the station, perhaps a portable transmitter, was unknown to Western listeners. Rakoczy was a patriot who fought for Hungary's freedom from the Hapsburgs.

At dusk the station came on the air again:

"Here is Radio Rakoczy speaking. According to couriers, the Russian troops at Dunapentele are preparing an attack on Dunapentele. Armored formations are approaching Dunapentele from Szekesfevar, Budapest and Dunafurdo. We request urgent help for imperiled Dunapentele!"

A Russian-controlled station at Pecs, threatening death on the spot to any Hungarian who molested a Soviet soldier, said rebels were still fighting late today for the uranium mines of Meczek, not far from the Yugoslav border.

It put out this limited bit of information only to demand the surrender of arms and warn the people thereabouts not to aid or hide those combatants.

But the situation is "growing desperate," it said. "Very little ammunition is left." It reported some hospitals were burning and asked, in a message relayed by Radio Free Europe in Munich, for help from the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

Demos Seen Keeping Control Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (P)—Democrats and Republicans vying for control of the new 85th Congress tonight made their last pitches for votes before tomorrow's nationwide election. The new Congress will convene Jan. 3.

On the eve of the balloting, the Democrats were generally regarded as favorites to retain their majorities in the House and the Senate despite the edge given to President Eisenhower in his re-election race against Adlai E. Stevenson.

Republicans, banking on an Eisenhower victory, were hopeful that he would carry a GOP Congress into office with him as he did in 1952.

Democrats, on the other hand, were looking for a continuation of a switch in voter sentiment that in 1954, midway through Eisenhower's term, returned them to power in both branches of Congress.

Two years ago, the Democrats also scored marked gains in races for state and local offices.

At stake in tomorrow's voting are 35 of the 96 Senate seats and all but three of the 435 House seats. On Sept. 10 Maine elected its three House members, two Republicans and a Democrat.

The election of a Democrat in traditionally Republican Maine was hailed by Democratic leaders as evidence of a trend in their favor.

In the present Congress, the Democrats hold a 49-47 margin over the Republicans in the Senate.

The Democrats have a more comfortable numerical advantage over the Republicans in the House, where the lineup is 230 Democrats and 201 Republicans. There are four vacancies — two in seats that were occupied by

Stevenson Not Entitled To Free Time, FCC Rules

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (P)—The Federal Communications Commission today ruled that TV-radio networks were not obligated to give Adlai Stevenson free time for a reply to President Eisenhower's broadcast last Wednesday in the Middle East crisis.

Stevenson demanded free-time and was given it on Thursday. Before granting it, the networks asked the FCC for a ruling and received the reply that the matter was too complex for a quick decision.

Today's ruling was a new interpretation of Section 315 of the Communications Act which requires that all political candidates for the same office are entitled to equal time on the same terms.

It divided the commission. A majority of four held Stevenson was not entitled to the time. One voted that he was. Two said the matter was too involved for a ruling without further study.

The commission made public telegrams to the networks which said:

"The majority has now after further examination of this problem reached a conclusion that we do not believe that when Congress enacted Section 315 it intended to grant equal time to all presidential candidates when the president uses the air lanes in reporting to the nation on an international crisis."

Eisenhower said at the outset of his 15-minute address on Wednesday that he was speaking as president. Citing that, the Republican National Committee has asked free time for a reply to Stevenson.

Following the FCC ruling, CBS advised the Republican National Committee that it is making available 15 minutes at 10:45 p.m. to night to President Eisenhower for his own use, over the CBS television and radio networks.

Allied Forces

British Brig. M. A. H. Butler, commander of the parachute troop force, negotiated the cease-fire.

The British, with their French allies, returned to Port Said just 4 months and 22 days after the last British soldier pulled out of the canal zone in keeping with a 1954 agreement.

The canal, nationalized by Egyptian President Nasser on July 26, already is reported blocked by nine sunken ships. The Egyptians say ships were sunk in the channel by air attack; the British-French claim the blockage is by Egyptian design. But British Defense Minister Antony Head said ships already are on the way to the Suez area to clear out the obstructions Egypt.

Unloaded Gun 'Deadly Weapon'

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 5 (P)—The Court of Appeals ruled today that an unloaded gun may be considered a dangerous and deadly weapon.

The high court upheld a Baltimore Criminal Court judge who sentenced Leo Hayes of Baltimore to 20 years in the Maryland Penitentiary last January for attempted robbery.

Hayes admitted trying to rob a Baltimore filling station, but he contended Baltimore Judge Joseph L. Carter erred in classifying the unloaded pistol he carried a "dangerous and deadly weapon."

"I know that for some millions of Americans, the decision in tomorrow's election was made when President Eisenhower made good his promise to end the stalemate costly, destructive and bloody war in Korea," McKeldin said.

He said Eisenhower had also restored integrity to the federal government in domestic affairs and established a climate in which American industry has expanded and prospered.

Railroads Seek 7 Per Cent Hike In Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (P)—The eastern and western railroads announced here today they will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) for a quick and additional freight rate increase of 7 per cent.

They said they were acting because of a wage hike settlement concluded in Chicago last week.

The same carriers already have a request pending before ICC for a 15 per cent freight rate increase which will be subject to hearings.

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT emphasized that the 7 per cent boost will be sought in addition to the earlier request, and on an emergency basis. There was no immediate estimate of what additional revenue this increase would be expected to produce.

The announcement was made by railroad representatives after a day-long closed session.

Southern railroad representatives attended the meeting but apparently decided not to join at this time in the request for a further increase. These carriers are also not included in the 7 per cent case.

The eastern and western roads said they will seek something less than 7 per cent on a number of commodities including lumber, fresh fruits and sugar, and that the request as to coal will be limited to 10 cents per ton, with no increase on coal moving from the Chesapeake & Ohio area mines to the Eastern Seaboard for export.

Butler Defends Record As Mahoney Attacks It

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (P)—The evaded them," said Butler. "In 1956 Maryland campaign for the trying to acquaint the people with my position. I also sought without same note with which it opened, success to acquaint them with the Sen. John Marshall Butler reposition of my opponent. It will be remembered that I recently challenged him to debate the issues and each time he declined with flimsy excuses."

Mahoney, who had criticized Butler for 1950 tactics used by his aides in the campaign to unseat Democrat Millard E. Tydings, first balked at the debate challenge on grounds that Butler's proposed ground rules would bar any discussion of the 1950 campaign. When Butler later agreed to unrestricted debate, the Democratic candidate said his campaign schedule had been filled in the interim and prevented a face-to-face meeting with the Republican.

In his close-out speech, Mahoney accused Butler of voting "consistently on the side of big business and against the individual."

Plan For "Drag Strip" At Airport Under Study

The Mayor and Council took over to Keegan for investigation under advisement yesterday a long, noting that the "most important nut in a car is the one behind the wheel," said youngsters seeking thrills and excitement in cars "should go out for football" where they would find plenty of action and not have time to speed around in automobiles.

William Spoerl, another teenager, said everybody cannot play football and if a teen-ager works on a car or rebuilds one, he wants to see if it is better than one built by another and there should be a place where he could prove his point.

Gwynn Fletcher, recreation director, told council that many cities do operate drag strips, but do so on a club basis and in cooperation with the Police Department.

He said the plan may be worth trying and that the Recreation Department would be glad to work along with the idea.

Holidays Given To City Police And Firemen

A schedule for the Police and Fire Departments which will give men an additional seven days off a year, will go into effect November 24. Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said today.

Kegan, noting that the action is a departmental one, told the Mayor and Council that the seven additional days will commensurate with the additional paid holidays which other city employees have been getting.

The plan was presented to council and the schedule worked up for the year by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

On another matter, Keegan said the $50 a month pay raise requested by the police and fire chiefs, R. Emmett Flynn and Virgil A. Parker, is also a departmental matter and would be handled through his office.

The position of police chief Charles Edward O'Donnell's post $388.50.

Keegan also informed council that he had no objection to issuing a pool room license to Abe Schwab and G. E. Button for premises at 25-27 North Mechanic Street, but there has been some objection to Don Wallace Breedlove, Cresap, using an entrance at the back of town.

Action was deferred for a week in order to talk with the complainant who is concerned for business reasons, it was said.

In his report on last month's activities, council was told by Keegan that the Police Department made 921 arrests and collected fines totaling $1,550. The Fire Department was called 20 times but fires caused only minor damage.

County Gets $171,503 From Motor Department

Allegany County received $171,503 from the Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956, according to the annual report of Frank Small Jr., commissioner.

At the same time, Garrett County received $46,547 and Washington County, $213,035, as its share of the divided receipts of the department.

This county received $9,093 from the trial of motor vehicle law violations. Under state law, the department is required to remit to the county commissioners of each county the sum of $3 for every case involving a charge of the motor vehicle law.

Fund For Garrett

From this source, Garrett County's treasury was enriched by $2,649 and Washington County, $12,951.

The Allegany County tax collector and the Garrett County treasurer are two persons carrying subsidiary accounts with the department for the issuance of motor vehicle licenses.

Draft Boards City To Install Culvert Call 14 Men Through Canal Levee

A 54-inch culvert will be installed through the C&O Canal towpath levee near Offutt Street, to drain off surface water which has collected in the canal and in times of rain flooded some homes in the area.

Council approved the $15,000 expenditure yesterday in connection with construction of the sewage treatment plant after Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said he had inspected the proposal and recommended it be done.

Buchholz said that like a lot of other things this matter "just came to my attention last week. I get too many things second-hand and if it continues to happen in the future, I will refuse payment on them." He added that public works projects such as this come under Street Department jurisdiction.

Nuzum pointed out that National Park Service officials met here in June with Park Service officials at which council June 6 primarily on the C&O Canal Parkway proposal but were also told of the drainage problem. The ground was inspected, he added, but park officials said at that time their budget did not cover such contingent items and if the city decided to go ahead, each commissioner's department, and that City Engineer Finance Commissioner John J. Charles R. Nuzum had submitted a report to council on the matter effort should be made to try to recover some of the $15,000 additional expense.

On another matter, council heard a question concerning the "hook up" of a house trailer from Casper Shook, 109 Elder Street. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained zoning laws. He said it is the belief of council that trailers can be prohibited any place and present laws are sufficient to bar them in a residential area such as the one in which the trailer owned by Shook would be located. Finan added that if Shook wanted to go into a commercial or business area, under present laws, he would be within his rights.

The city has not been encouraging house trailers by granting permits, nor will it issue a permit for just a house foundation. Finan pointed out the city does not consider a foundation as a dwelling and added that there are a number of them in the area which are being used as dwellings.

Bi-County Firemen Vote Dystrophy Drive Support

The Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association has voted to support the Muscular Dystrophy fund-raising campaign which will continue through the rest of November.

Action was taken Sunday at the monthly meeting of the association's board at the District 16 Fire Hall at North Branch. It followed a brief talk on the campaign by Cumberland Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Kirk, a member of the state executive committee, reported that an agreement has been reached whereby volunteer fire companies will not be charged toll on fire apparatus driven across the Chesapeake Bay Bridge on the way to the Ocean City convention. Private automobiles will have to pay the toll, however.

W. Va. Political Leaders Anticipate Record Vote

Over Million Are Registered For Balloting

State Democratic Last Five Times

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6 (P)—West Virginia voters will have the last word in today's general election after months of campaign oratory by Democratic and Republican candidates.

Good weather was expected, so a large percentage of the approximately one million registered voters may cast their ballots. The state's 2,810 polling places will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 7:30 p.m.

The names of presidential and vice presidential candidates will appear on the ballot for the first time, instead of the names of the state's electors. One of West Virginia's two U.S. Senate seats is to be filled, as well as the entire six-man delegation in the House of Representatives.

A governor and six other statewide officers who sit on the Board of Public Works will be elected, as well as 16 of the 32 state senators and all 100 members of the House of Delegates. A 12-year term on the State Supreme Court also is at stake.

Three proposed constitutional amendments are on the ballot. They would pay Korean War veterans a state bonus, permit women to serve on juries, and give counties more leeway in voting money for their schools.

There were the usual last-minute statements from both political camps.

State Democratic Chairman Hulett C. Smith said "a major Democratic sweep in West Virginia is certain."

State Republican Chairman John D. Hoblitzell Jr. expressed the hope that "the people will give serious consideration to our program of principle and honor."

In Wheeling tonight, Rep. Robert H. Mollohan urged all registered voters to go to the polls. The Democratic nominee for governor said his ticket merited the people's support "on the basis of the democratic Party's record of achievements for all the people."

Mollohan is running against Republican nominee Cecil H. Underwood of Sistersville, minority leader of the House of Delegates.

The U.S. Senate contenders are Gov. Marland, the Democrat, and Republican Chapman Revercomb of Charleston a former senator.

Democrats have a registration edge of 259,000 in a state which has gone Democratic in every presidential election since 1932. There are 679,787 Democrats and 420,795 Republicans.

LONACONING — Anne Perry Chappell, a senior, showed braking reaction quicker than James Craze, a senior, in the safety demonstration Monday afternoon on the highway in front of Valley High School.

At 20 miles per hour, Miss Chappell's reaction was 14 feet 3 inches while Craze's reaction was 16 feet 6 inches; braking was 22 feet 1 inch compared to 25 feet 2 inches; total stopping for Miss Chappell 36 feet 4 inches; for Craze, 41 feet 8 inches.

The Valley students lined the highway to watch the braking tests. Richard C. Fram, a Valley faculty member, at 30 miles per hour, had reaction at 22 feet 3 inches; braking distance, 51 feet 2 inches; total stopping, 73 feet 5 inches.

State Trooper Harry Bosley at 40 miles per hour showed that 25 feet 4 inches was reaction time; 93 feet 10 inches was braking distance; a total stopping distance of one hundred nineteen feet two inches.

The macadam road was dry for the tests although foggy weather conditions threatened earlier, but cleared for a sunny, chilly afternoon.

Keyser Elks Give Magazines

Keyser Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks has adopted a community service project of providing hospital patients at Potomac Valley Hospital with 100 magazines each Friday. The project, known as "Magazines Every Friday," has met with pronounced approval of nurses, the hospital staff and patients. Shown at the first distribution are H. J. Borgan, chairman of the project for the lodge, William Anthony Lawrence, a patient, and at the left, Edward F. Laughlin, exalted ruler of the Keyser Elks.

Under the sponsorship of the Elks, approximately 100 of the latest issues of magazines are being distributed to patients in the hospital by the committee. There is no limitation on types of magazines, but a rounded program of the better types of national weekly and monthly magazines to patients is the objective of the committee.

Each magazine is inspected prior to its distribution by the Elks' committee to be sure that it is in good condition; that it is of the period date and suitable reading material and of interest to the patients.

The magazines are collected weekly at the Elks' Home in the Music Hall Building, where the committee sorts them and places a sticker on each reading: "Best Wishes for a Speedy Recovery."

Judging by the reaction of the hospital staff and the patients, the first regular distribution last Friday was a big success. Many of the patients in the hospital are without friends or relatives to visit them, and welcome the reading material.

The committee of Elks in charge includes: H. J. Borgan, chairman; Henry Grouden, Edward Daskel, Charles Coyle, Dakin Morehouse and Ray Bright. The Elks committee needs ap-

Popularity Of Stand Will Be Answered

By Wednesday morning we should know, or at least be able to deduce, whether the election results were affected by the administration's stand on the Israeli incursion into Egypt. And if they were affected, how and where.

Census Bureau figures classify the foreign stock (first or second generation immigrant) by country or origin, not by race. However, it may be safely assumed that almost all those Americans born in Russia or with at least one parent born there are of Jewish stock. (Many of Jewish stock came also from Poland and other lands, but so did many of non-Jewish stock).

In 1950 only 34 of the 435 Congressional districts, seven and one-half per cent, had more than five per cent of residents who were born in Russia or had at least one parent born there. (Fifteen of the 34 were in New York City). Many of these residents may have little or no feeling of partiality toward the state of Israel.

In the early days of the Republic, foreign policy toward France and England played a leading role in U. S. national elections. Then during most of the 19th Century the elections revolved almost entirely around domestic issues. One exception: annexation of Texas and the war with Mexico.

Then the 1916 election turned largely on U. S. policies toward the war in Europe, and the election four years later on the League of Nations. In 1940, 1944 and 1948 bipartisanship on foreign policy was professed on both sides, though individual Republicans charged the Democrats with softness toward Russia and over-anxiety to aid foreign nations, while individual Democrats charged the Republicans with isolationism. In 1952 GOP spokesmen attacked Democratic administrations for blunders at Yalta and in China, while certain Democratic spokesmen ascribed such attacks to sheer partisanship.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Suez And Israel

The movement of Israel against Egypt must be taken in relationship to the 1888 Convention, by which the Suez Canal is supposed to be open to all shippers regardless of the attitude of Egypt toward a nation. When the 1888 Convention was signed, Egypt was not a sovereign state, but was under the suzerainty of Turkey and the treaty was actually negotiated and signed in Constantinople, the Turkish capital. When Egypt became sovereign, her government assumed the responsibilities and the liabilities of the Turkish government in that country.

From that standpoint, the Suez Canal should always have been open to Israel and to the shipping of other nations to and from Israel. This has not been so, with the result that Egypt was able to set a precedent, with the consent of the major powers, a precedent which is today plaguing them because it is being used against them by Nasser and has forced upon the world another war and the probable destruction of the Western Alliance. It is another evidence that wrong actions taken to appear a wicked and petulant dictator will always have wrong consequences.

Al-Shab, a Cairo newspaper, raised this issue when it made the point:

"These voices have ignored an important fact, that it, that Egypt's denial of passage through the canal to Israeli ships has been applied for eight years, in other words, since the establishment of this aggressive state (Israel). Egypt continues to execute this policy in accordance with its prerogatives as the owner of the canal, provided for in the Constantinople Convention of 1888."

Britain, which occupied the canal until recently, would have been able to interfere by force to grant Israel ships passage, if Britain truly means to assure the rights of Israel or believed that Israel had the right to pass."

The view is correct in many respects. The Suez Canal Company, managed by the French and the canal itself controlled by the British, it is correct to say that Great Britain, with 80,000 troops on hand, could have kept the canal open for Israeli shipping. The Egyptians are entitled now to question the sincerity of the British raising such an issue when the British are no longer in control of the canal, except that Great Britain sought to avoid war and particularly hoped to avoid a clash with the United States which has consistently supported the Arab position. The issue of authority could then have been decided eight years earlier, before Nasser was in power, before he received arms and planes from Soviet Russia, before he had turned himself into an African Hitler.

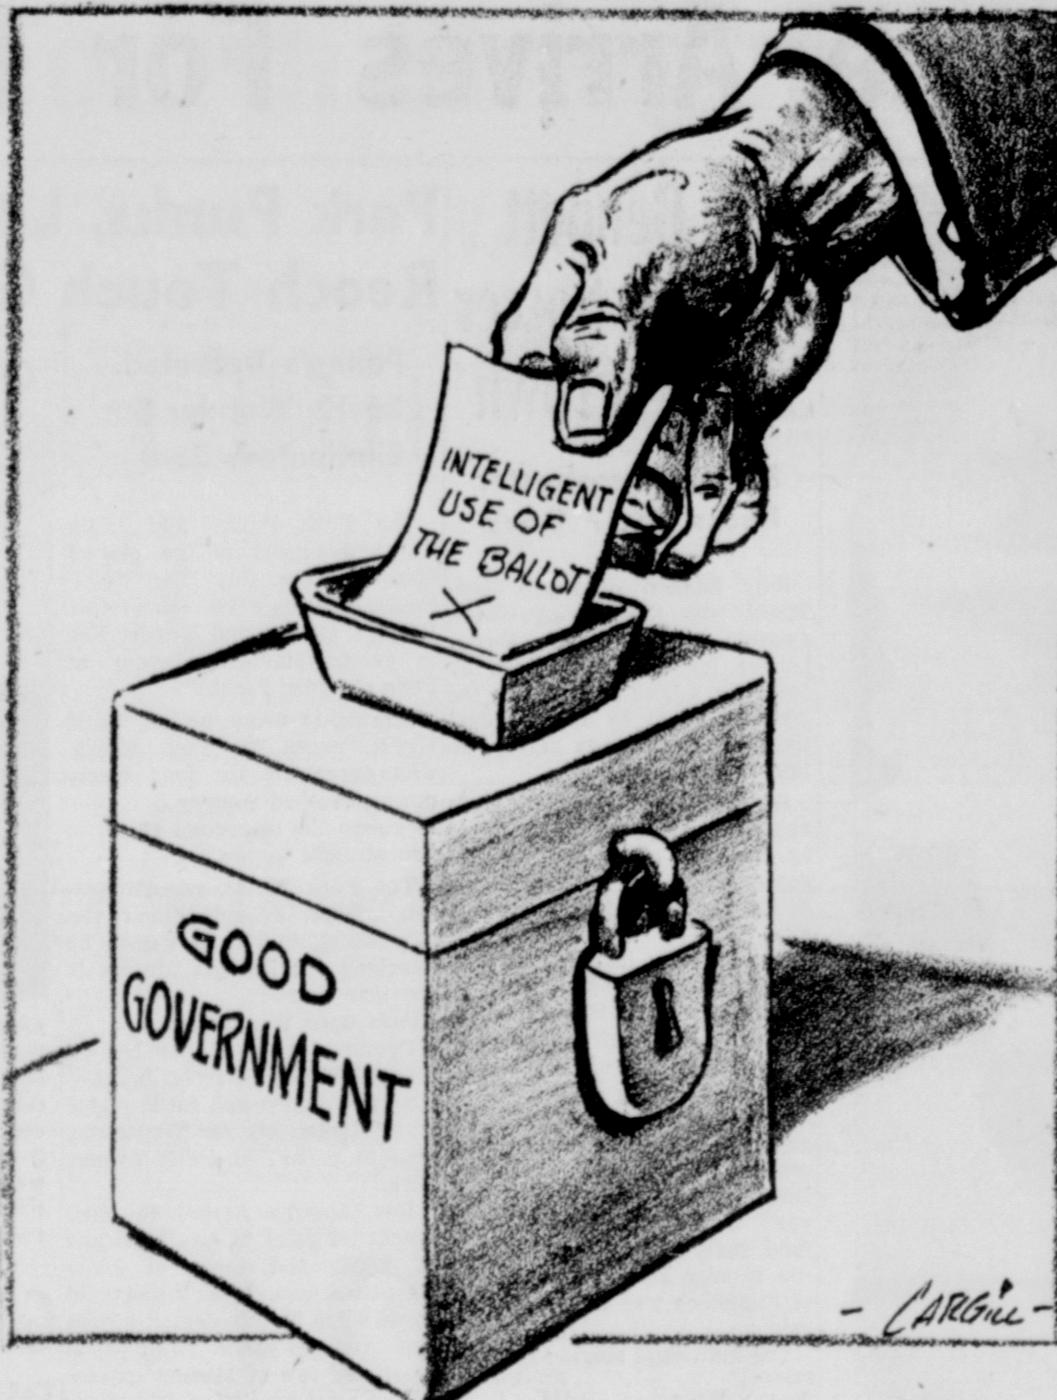

When the wrong thing is done to appease a dictator, it is likely to work out that the appeasement will cause trouble sooner or later. This is precisely what has happened. Had the British and the French asserted the authority of the 1888 Convention upon the first occasion of its violation, they would today not be faced by the condonation of that violation as a precedent for all countries and all time. And the United States, which also made no protest against the discrimination against Israeli shipping and which permitted a violation of a treaty, finds itself embarrassed by the course of events in Egypt. Nasser has taken the advantage of the embarrassment.

Appeasement usually works out that way. It generally lays the foundation for subsequent trouble. Nasser is one of those tough characters of history who takes advantage of every situation on the theory that that is the only way that a weak and backward nation can survive in the struggle against the large and powerful states. By seizing the Suez Canal, Nasser gave the Western world the alternative of fighting him or appeasing him. When they failed to fight, they appeased. Now that Israel, the British and the French are fighting, they have brought on their heads the condemnation not only of Soviet Russia but of the United States.

Until this happened Nasser had won an outstanding victory against Great Britain, France and the United States. Nasser built his position half on bluster and half on Western appeasement, benefiting as though it were a coup d'état. He had to be brought down lest he achieve his goal which was to form an Arabic empire as Hitler had formed a Nordic empire.

Electorate May Pick GOP Congress To Join Ike

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — This is the 11th presidential election in which this writer has published his forecast of the result. The score thus far has been eight correct predictions and two misses.

The same formula has been used again and again, and in the case of the two predictions that didn't pan out, the mistake was not in the formula but in the information gathered by this correspondent in 1940 and 1948 which led to an overestimate in certain states of the amount of voter discontent due to economic conditions. The party in power in both those election years was better off on the economic side than was generally realized at the time.

For basically, when 50 to 60 millions of persons vote, only the overriding issues — things that can be called the common denominator of the thinking of masses of people — are decisive. Economics Vs. Emotions

The formula used by this writer in forecasting a presidential election is to examine the economic situation state by state and determine to what extent economic contentment or discontent prevails. A satisfactory economic condition is reflected in the data of production, sales, profits and employment. This is called "prosperity" in the vocabulary of politics. It helps, the party in power, whereas a "depression" or "recession" usually means that the party in power will be turned out of office. The economic factor can be overruled when an emotional issue sweeps the country. This happened in 1952 when "corruption" and its near-relative — the taint of "communism" — and the Korean War furnished the emotional issues. Likewise, in 1916, when World War I was going on, the Democrats had "prosperity" on their side in the West due to heavy wheat purchases from abroad, but depression in the East due to interruption of trade in manufactured goods. Yet, overriding everything else was an emotional issue. Its slogan was "he kept us out of war." So President Wilson won re-election.

Safe For Ike

Looking at the list of "certain" and "doubtful" states, this writer presents a forecast which endeavors not to estimate the final tally but to establish a basic minimum — how the winning candidate is sure to get the 263 electoral votes needed to elect a president. The actual result this week may show a far greater electoral vote for Eisenhower, but the average reader primarily wants to know now the basis for picking the winner and only secondarily what the maximum electoral vote may be. Here is the irreducible minimum which makes it certain that President Eisenhower will be re-elected:

Arizona	4 New Hampshire	4
California	32 New Jersey	16
Colorado	6 New York	45
Connecticut	8 North Dakota	4
Delaware	3 Ohio	25
Florida	4 Oregon	4
Illinois	27 South Dakota	4
Indiana	13 Utah	4
Iowa	10 Vermont	3
Kansas	4 Washington	9
Maine	5 Wisconsin	12
Maryland	9 Wyoming	3
Nebraska	6 TOTAL	270

It should be noted that the foregoing table elects Ike without Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. This would make Ike's total 360.

There are 92 votes also in the "doubtful" class which could wind up in the Eisenhower column — Montana, Nevada, Minnesota, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. This would make Ike's total 371.

Ratio Of Doubt?

The "ratio of doubt" — a phrase which this writer has used in previous forecasts of presidential elections — favors Eisenhower in the above group of states which comprise 90 electoral votes. There is, on the other hand, even among the 92 votes classed as "doubtful" but leaning toward Stevenson some question now about several states he has been expected all along to carry, such as Texas, New Mexico and Florida.

Personal preference plays no part in this forecasting business, as this writer, while not supporting Franklin Roosevelt, forecast correctly his election on three occasions and in other years found it necessary to pick Republicans as winners, though actually favoring James M. Cox in 1920, John W. Davis in 1924 and Al Smith in 1928, all Democrats.

So, to sum up, it looks like Eisenhower. A big surprise may come in the election also of a Republican Senate and House.

It is a distinct possibility at this writing, due largely to economic conditions in the prosperous and heavily populated states and to the emotional issues of the hour, which could influence a good deal more straight-ticket voting than has come the way of the Republicans in recent presidential elections.

Plans Must Be Made For Oldster's Retirement

This demonstrates the need for initiative by and guidance for individuals who have given up their life work. Existence will be dreary unless they are armed with dozens of things to do. Death is inevitable when we no longer contribute to life.

The retired man of today is confronted with a different situation from that of his grandfather 50 or 60 years ago. The transition from rural to urban living since the turn of the century has affected family life markedly. Two generations ago, many men were self-employed. They owned or managed their own farm or business, which supplied work for their sons.

The boys took over when Dad retired but he hung around and continued as the boss. The older he got, the more respected he became and the more respect he demanded. Nowadays, most retired men live on a pension or an annuity, and are not master of their economic fate.

Moreover, the family is scattered all over the country and its members are engaged in various businesses or professions. The patriarchal setup and strong family ties no longer are necessary for survival.

Campaign Has Been Gentlemanly Compared With Those Of Past

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Elections change in the U.S.A. They've become more sedate, some people say more sissified. Torchlight parades have been replaced by coffee hours. The spellbinding oratory of Bryan's day has given way to Madison Avenue techniques on television.

And more than anything else, the lusty editorials, the mudslinging epithets, the personal abuse of candidates has lessened. It had a big flare-up in McCarthy's day, but this campaign has been quite gentle.

It's been so gentlemanly that looking back through the pages of American history and noting the way our forefathers slugged it out verbally on the political hustings, you wonder whether American politics is losing its virulence.

Probably it isn't. It's more polite, more fair, but I hope just as vigorous.

George Washington was called a "tyrant" and a "fool." Thomas Jefferson an "infidel." Teddy Roosevelt a "pansy blossom," a "sissy" and a "punkin lilly," while no later than six presidents ago Woodrow Wilson was accused of being promiscuous with lady friends.

Charges against Grover Cleveland were the most bold-faced of all. Republican enemies raised the issue of his illegitimate son, and Republican torchlight parades chanted: "Maw, maw, where's my paw? He's in the White House, haw, haw, haw."

By Harding's day this type of Michigan and Pennsylvania, where recent unemployment may have left a large residue of discontented voters. Since the total number of "prosperous" districts exceeds the number of districts in the thinly populated states, the Republicans have a good chance also of winning both houses of Congress.

There are 90 electoral votes classed by this writer as "doubtful" which could wind up in the Eisenhower column — Montana, Nevada, Minnesota, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. This would make Ike's total 360.

There are 92 votes also in the "doubtful" class which could wind up in the Stevenson column — New Mexico, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, Florida and Texas — for a Stevenson total of 171.

Ratio Of Doubt?

The writer doesn't expect Ike to lose all those states — in fact, quite a number of them will go Republican. For the pattern of prosperity applies to several of them, and the peace issue applies to them all. Also, "good times" prevail uniformly in the populous states with the exception of Florida.

Personal preference plays no part in this forecasting business, as this writer, while not supporting Franklin Roosevelt, forecast correctly his election on three occasions and in other years found it necessary to pick Republicans as winners, though actually favoring James M. Cox in 1920, John W. Davis in 1924 and Al Smith in 1928, all Democrats.

Le Pretendant At Laurel For Monday Event

Arcaro Will Ride
Fisherman; Nine
May Go Postward

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 5 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's horse arrived today for Laurel's international race next Monday, accompanied by a message from the former prime minister that he "felt very strongly it was essential under the present world crisis" to be represented.

The horse, Le Pretendant, and the message were brought by Major Carey Foster, stud manager for Churchill.

Churchill's horse and three others entered in the $100,000 mile and half race were flown across the Atlantic Ocean in the record time of 12 hours, eight minutes from Shannon in Ireland to New York.

One of the four, Vaquero from Ireland, was unloaded in New York. Traveling on to the aptly named Friendship Airport near Laurel with Le Pretendant were Chantecleair from Sweden and Muster Boing from France.

Nine Way Start

Their arrival brings the probable field to nine with the latest being the popular Fisherman, called on for the second time to be a substitute starter for the United States.

The turf committee turned to C. V. Whitney a couple of days before the 1954 race to substitute for the injured High Gun and he hurriedly supplied Fisherman, who came through with the only U.S. victory in four runnings to date.

This time, Fisherman is a round-about replacement for a stablemate, Caree Boy, who suffered a leg injury last week. After being turned down in a bid for Summer Tan, winner of last Saturday's Gallant Fox, the selection committee sought Fisherman again.

It will be the last race for the little horse. He will have the same great jockey, Eddie Arcaro, who rode him in the 1954 International. Three Represent U.S.

Fisherman, Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate and Mrs. Richard Lunn's Mister Gus will represent the United States.

In addition to today's foreign arrivals, Prince Cortaud from Australia and Hindu Wand from Canada via England are ready to run in the grass race.

Perry Lost For Season

Pittsburgh Steeler
Undergoes Surgery

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5 (AP) — Lowell Perry, Pittsburgh Steeler end who suffered a fractured pelvis and dislocated hip in yesterday's game with the New York Giants, underwent surgery for the hip dislocation today and will be hospitalized six to eight weeks.

Dr. P. H. Faix, team physician, performed the operation in Mercy Hospital. A spokesman for the National Football League team quoted Faix as saying Perry will remain in the hospital six to eight weeks.

The spokesman said it is too early to tell how the injury will affect Perry's career as a professional football player.

I was injured as he was tackled after picking up 23 yards on an end-around play.

Meanwhile, the Steelers announced they have picked up center John Cenci, a former University of Pittsburgh star who was released by the Steelers earlier this season after playing two games.

Krause Gives Brennan Vote Of Confidence

Moose Spikes Rumor Of Grid De-Emphasis

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP) — Coach Terry Brennan of Notre Dame was given a rousing vote of confidence today by Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause who spiced all reports of a football de-emphasis plan at the home of the Fighting Irish.

"The athletic program at Notre Dame is the same type of plan that was there in 1946, 47, 48 and 49 (when Notre Dame was unbeaten)," Krause told the Chicago American Quarterback Club.

"There is no de-emphasis at Notre Dame in any way, shape or form," Terry Brennan is a great coach. He is destined to have success and will have it. Father Hesburg (The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburg, Notre Dame president), Father Joyce (The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, chairman of the athletic board) and myself are behind him 100 per cent."

Notre Dame so far this season has a 1-5 record, the five defeats being the most the Irish have absorbed since 1933.

"We're making a lot of friends this season," Krause quipped. "We've made good friends with Southern Methodist, Purdue, Michigan State, Oklahoma and Navy. And may make many more before the season ends. (Notre Dame has Pittsburg, North Carolina, Iowa and Southern California remaining on the schedule)."

"We are practicing humility at Notre Dame—it has to be part of the course some times. I've received letters from alumni all over the world. Every once in a while we have to test the loyalty of the alumni."

One of the weightlifters showed his prowess by picking up a Boy Scout in each hand and easily lofting them in the air for photographers.

"Is this what you mean?" he asked the picture makers with a broad, confident grin.

"In 1950, Frank Leahy lost four games and there were some (alumni) who said he was over the hill and Notre Dame should get a new coach. Well you know what Rockne's teams did after that."

"His teams that followed were great. When Brennan became coach, there were some who said he was too young." But we have a fine squad, the same type of kids we have always had, and they will come through before the season is over."

Russians Mix With Others; Freeze At Mention Of Politics

By WILL GRIMSLY

MELBOURNE, Nov. 5 (AP) — A contingent of Russian athletes who prefer tea to vodka settled down Heidelberg Olympic Village today, talked confidently of their chances in the forthcoming games, but froze like stone at the mention of politics.

The center of attraction among the 63 Soviet team members and officials who flew in from Rangoon was a seven-foot-one Latvian wood-chopper named Jan Krumins who plays center on the basketball team.

Towering above even the tallest of his teammates, Krumins submitted to a lunch time interview through a Boy Scout interpreter and predicted Russia would beat the United States for the basketball title.

Expect To Beat U.S.

"We have a fine team and the Americans will not have the advantage of height which they had at Helsinki," Jan said. "Russia and America will be in the finals again, but this time we will win."

Russia brought 12 basketball players, of whom nine are so tall they require special beds. The average height is six-feet-four.

Another standout in the Soviet vanguard was Vladimir Kuts, a grim-faced little man who holds the world record in the 10,000-meter run.

Kuts gave reporters a start when he announced in a clipped accent which was interpreted: "I feel good enough to go out and start running today."

Also in the Soviet squad was hop-step-jump ace Leonid Shcherbakov and Maria Itkina, Soviet champion woman sprinter.

One of the weightlifters showed his prowess by picking up a Boy Scout in each hand and easily lofting them in the air for photographers.

games and there were some (alumni) who said he was over the hill and Notre Dame should get a new coach. Well you know what Rockne's teams did after that."

"His teams that followed were great. When Brennan became coach, there were some who said he was too young." But we have a fine squad, the same type of kids we have always had, and they will come through before the season is over."

The first group of the vast Russian delegation, largest in the Olympic Games, were large, hardened athletes who appeared pleasant enough but who talked apprehensively with furtive glances in the direction of team officials.

Billy Bennett Annexes Soccer Scoring Crown

Bruce Sharpshooter Racks Up 17 Goals

Billy Bennett of Bruce High School won the scoring championship of the W.M.I. Soccer League for the 1956 season by amassing a total of 17 points, the greatest output by an individual since the circuit was revived in 1945.

Bennett booted 12 field goals and five penalty goals and hung up the best mark for a single game when he registered six points on five fielders and a penalty.

The previous high for the league was the 21 goals scored by Chester Marsh, of Bruce, in 1932. The all-time mark is held by Arone DiBaldo of Bruce who collected 28 goals in 1931.

Ronnie Young of Valley High's champions, who paced the scorers in 1955 with nine goals, finished in the runner-up spot this year with 13 tallies on eight field goals and five points from the penalty line. Ted Bobinet of Flintstone was third with five points.

The individual scoring records:

Russians Are Ready

"Mr. Andrianov," one reporter asked, "will you tell us about reports that Russia will withdraw from the games?"

The Soviet official stiffened and replied coldly through an interpreter: "We are here. We came in today to compete in the games. Does that answer your question?"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5 (INS)—what tempts Eddie is that he's no matter what's with Gene Kelly's marriage status with Betsy Blair, his career couldn't be better. He's just finished "The Happy Road," which he wrote, directed and starred in for MGM, and January 4 he starts "Les Girls." But before he tore off to Paris last week, he told me his biggest bit of news.

Some summer, he and Maurice Chevalier, who is happily seventy, will co-star in a romantic musical to be made in Hollywood. Gene is already at work on the story, and he and Maurice will collaborate on the music. Close pals, they're hoping to sweet talk Michael Redgrave, another buddy of theirs, into joining them—Mike for the acting, Gene the dancing, and Maurice, of course, for the song.

Eddie Albert went through as long a professional slump as I've ever seen a good actor survive, but right now he's hotter than a cheap dance hall on an August Saturday night.

With his knockout comedy performance in "Teahouse of the August Moon," rating critical acclaim, and "The Joker" to finish up, Eddie is mulling an offer from Anthony Quinn to join him in Spain next spring for "El Cid," the Spanish classic. This is Tony's own production, which will be entirely shot abroad, and John Derek and Ursula Andress sharing a porterhouse at the Sportsmans Lodge. Fess Parker and Marcie Reinhard doing the same thing, same place.

Carol Lee Ladd, Alan's daughter, and Liam O'Brien, Eddie's playwright brother, looking mighty serious on their many dates.

Constance Smith, the Irish actress, is convalescing from two major operations in Rome.

Joe E. Lewis, arriving in Hollywood, sent Frank Sinatra, who's playing Joe in "The Joker Is Wild," a case of Scotch. The card read: "Start rehearsing."

Joanne Gilbert with Wade Willys at Jack's at the Beach. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Don't allow unsightly superfluous hair to become a serious problem that causes embarrassment.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Hair Free

It may be true that your dating career can hang by a hair. For if there is one single problem that causes embarrassment to the fair sex, it most certainly is the presence of facial hair. Your skin need not be "whiter than snow," but as Shakespeare puts it, it should be "smooth as monumental alabaster." For Many would-be beautiful girls or women complain of unwanted hair on the upper lip, which is the commonest spot. But these ambitious sprouts also appear on the chin, throat, and cheeks. We know of a very well-known movie star whose hair grew so low on her forehead that she couldn't get any studio to look at her. After she had her hair removed, her looks were so much improved she was offered all kinds of contracts.

Electrolysis is perhaps the most effective, lasting method of removing hair. It can be used to

"It takes a couple of years for a writer to get hold of this medium. That's a period of agony for a new writer — learning the craft for no dough. He probably has to do two rewrites over a period of six weeks and may get $2,000. Then he has three months or more with no work. That's not much money but he is learning a trade faster than he would learn it in the theater or movies. And after a guy learns his craft, he may turn out four shows a year and the movies will buy one of them."

Actually, he says, the writer is better off now, since Pat Weaver started "throwing television around the room" but the situation is still far from ideal. Young writers, he admitted, still think of television, not as a permanent career, but as a way station toward other things like the movies or the stage. There should be some way of anchoring them reasonably permanently in television.

"If I were president of a TV network," he said, "I'd want two separate budgets, one to develop and experiment with the production end of television. We are still working with antiquated boom mikes, awkward cameras and other pieces of equipment that should have been replaced long ago."

"Secondly, I'd want to build a staff of directors and writers—not actors—by taking an option on their services for five or ten years. I'd tell them they would work with and learn with the best people. The first couple of years, they'd be expected to contribute nothing—but they'd be supported. After that, I hope they'd go way beyond us. There are areas in this business that haven't even been thought of yet. I don't think I'm going to think of them—or Tony Miner or Max Liebman. What we need is some fresh kid who'll come in and say 'I've got an idea—60 minutes with no dialogue or let's make all the sets out of foam rubber—something that would never occur to the old hands in the business.'"

By the time this appears I'll be at the headwaters of the Amazon, a good safe distance from a television signal. During my vacation, the column will be written by guests, including Bishop Sheen, Garry Moore, George Gobel, Alistair Cooke, Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen, John Daly, Walter Cronkite, Tennessee Ernie, Arlene Francis and others who will keep you entertained and instructed.

remove superfluous hair anywhere on the body. I give only a few words of advice. Consult your physician or dermatologist to recommend an experienced and skilled electrologist. Many of them now employ the new, fast, high frequency method technically called "short-wave" or "diathermy." One hour of its treatment is equal to five hours work by older methods. It will remove hair completely and permanently. Improvement can be noted even after the first treatment. The wisest thing to do is have the operator make an estimate at the beginning, so you can plan on just what the expense will be.

East-West vulnerable. North failing to lead partner's suit, opened the jack of spades which was won in dummy with the ace. To declarer, it became apparent that West was void in diamonds, so that he deemed it wise to draw trumps. But before doing so, he ruffed out dummy's small spade to strip both hands of that suit.

With the location of the diamond suit reduced to a certainty, declarer need but find East with both high club honors to bring home the contract. However, the situation must be handled with delicacy because of the dummy's lack of entries. The king of trumps was led and then a small trump to the ace.

A club was led from dummy and when East played an honor, declarer permitted him to hold the trick. East returned the four of clubs, and declarer had no choice but to finesse. He then cashed the ace of clubs and led low to the king of diamonds. East won with the ace and returned the jack, and again declarer ducked.

North and South arrived at their final auction with direct dispatch, but North's leap to three hearts is somewhat open to dispute. Pointwise, Worth had the required values for his bid, but in view of the location of the diamond king in front of the diamond bidder, the value of that card should be discounted.

Big Vote Predicted In Today's Election

Use Of Machines Expected To Speed Returns In State

At least 80 per cent of the 40,497 registered voters of Allegany County are expected to go to the polls today.

Fine autumn weather, clear and mild, is predicted for the election here and is expected to help bring out a heavy vote at the first general election at which voting machines are used.

The polls open here at 7 a.m. and election officials are hoping that voters will try to vote early so the inevitable rush which occurs between 6 and 7 p.m. may be avoided.

In this county, voters may select one of the teams for President and Vice President, choose between Republican Senator John Marshall Butler and his Democratic opponent, George P. Mahoney, for the U.S. Senate post, and select either Republican Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde or his Democratic opponent, John R. Foley, in the 8th District Congressional contest.

GOP Has Lead

Other choices face the conscientious voter in seven proposed amendments to the Maryland constitution. GOP leaders here have endorsed all of them.

Republican leaders have predicted that President Eisenhower, Senator Butler and Rep. Hyde will carry Allegany County with substantial majorities.

The prediction is based on a lead of 5,459 voters among the 40,497 registered voters of the county. The GOP strength is evident in 46 of the 67 precincts, and the parties are tied at 79 each at Vale Summit.

Democrats, with majorities in 20 precincts, are hoping that voters will cross party lines to support Stevenson, Mahoney and Foley.

Voters Can Practice

The Board of Election Supervisors pointed out yesterday that voters may use any voting machine found in a polling place.

And William A. Wilson, chairman of the election board, said a model machine will be in every polling place, with attendants available, so those unfamiliar with voting machines may practice before they vote.

He said voters will receive, instead of a paper ballot, a voters authority card which can be taken to any machine judge.

He said the board expects all returns to be in by 10:30 p.m., since judges have been instructed to make returns up first and call them in before checking binders against poll books for possible errors.

If the vote is close, he said, absentee votes could affect the results.

Could Turn Election

About 300 absentee ballots are on hand and are to be canvassed, beginning Thursday at noon.

Another 182 absentee ballots from Allegany County have been received by the Secretary of State in Annapolis and will be turned over to election officials after the polls close tonight. They will be counted with local returns in Thursday's canvass.

For the state as a whole, Republican leaders were predicting a heavy turnout and most Democrats a relatively light vote.

Both parties were predicting sweeping victories, according to the Associated Press, which added that in the Congressional races, it was hard to find a politician on either side who would not privately admit that the seven incumbent appear to have the edge over their challengers.

Vote Machines Here To Carry Write-In-Notice

In a last-minute action yesterday the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors agreed to provide notices for all of the county's 103 voting machines so that the voters here may know that prepared stickers may be used for write-in candidates.

Matthew J. Mullane, Democratic member of the county board, said that he and William A. Wilson, board chairman, agreed that such notices should be provided after they received a telegram from Pedro A. del Valle, chairman of the Maryland Conservative Party Inc.

The telegram referred to a ruling yesterday by Judge Michael J. Manley in Baltimore that the Baltimore Board of Election Supervisors should let the voters know in some appropriate way that prepared stickers may be used to vote for write-in candidates.

The Maryland Conservative Party Inc., which filed the suit before Judge Manley, plans to distribute printed stickers with the names of electors supporting T. Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of internal revenue, for President.

Road Deaths Keep Low At 40 MPH

Death on the highway begins at 40 miles per hour, according to Maryland State Police, who point out that the rise in misused horsepower is reflected in the rise in traffic deaths.

Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the State Police, says that if a trooper gives you a traffic ticket it is an effort to keep you from becoming a killer and he gives somebody else a ticket to keep him from becoming the killer of your child or you.

From May through August this year, authorities were kept busy throughout the state as some 23,704 were arrested because of traffic violation.

In the four westernmost counties of Maryland there were 2,252 passenger car operators arrested and 357 truckers as well as six bus drivers and 41 other drivers.

Reckless driving is the most prevalent charge. Other top reasons for arrests were exceeding the speed limit and improper passing.

Colonel Munshower also pointed out, "Aware that an accident occurs while a car is traveling under 40 miles an hour there is only one chance in 44 that someone will be killed . . . but—if an accident occurs while a car is traveling over 40 miles an hour there is one chance in 19 that someone will be killed."

Prizes and entertainment will feature this year's dance. Rollins also said that all proceeds will be sent direct to Walter Winchell, treasurer of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund at New York City.

Thus far the Fraternal Order of Eagles throughout the entire jurisdiction has contributed $775,858.07 to this fund.

Car Strikes Child

Alice K. Roller, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roller, RD 4, is reported in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Saturday after being hit by a car while crossing Virginia Avenue.

Symphony Concert Here To Feature New Talent

Cumberland will be one of the first cities outside Baltimore to hear two new first chair men of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra.

When the 86 players appear here November 15 under their noted conductor, Massimo Freccia, Laszlo Steinhardt, a native of Budapest, Hungary, will be concertmaster, and Richard Kay, a native New Yorker who first played with the New York Philharmonic, will be first cellist.

Steinhardt came to the United States as a discovery of the world-famous pianist, Josef Hofmann, who had heard him in a violin recital in Berlin. When less than 20 years old, Steinhardt was concertmaster for the late Erno Rapee at Radio City Music Hall. He was with the NBC Orchestra for ten years under Arturo Toscanini.

Tickets On Sale

Reserve seats are on sale at Vandegrift's Music Shop, Baltimore Street, and the Sykes Music Store, North Centre Street.

Kay, the new first cellist who will be heard here with the Baltimore orchestra, just recently returned from the Orient. In 1946 he won the Duke Ellington Scholarship to Juilliard School of Music, New York, and in 1950 Public Library.

They Aid Red Cross

These Girl Scouts, members of Troop No. 13 at Johnson Heights School are shown presenting to Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross executive secretary, a layette made by girls of the troop. Mrs. Legge said the layette is to be given to the wife of a local serviceman, who requested assistance. The Scouts in the picture are Karen Ullery, Jane Berry and Pamela Davis.

$150 Misled By Bill Payer Is Returned

A woman who resides in the Ridgeley area learned last night there are honest people in this old world.

City Police said the woman had received a Social Security check, cashed it and after paying some bills, including her telephone bill, had approximately $150 left but found out that it was missing.

She told police she placed her telephone bill and necessary money in the after-business hours slot at the local telephone company office and after leaving the building missed the remaining money.

She thought possibly she accidentally placed the money in the slot with her bill. Police called the telephone company in an effort to learn if the money had been placed in the slot.

Meanwhile a telephone operator reporting for work found the money in a wallet lying on the floor near the slot and it was returned to the owner who was very happy over the outcome.

Bloodmobile Collects 143 Pints Locally

Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold their annual Damon Runyon Cancer Fund dance on Saturday night in the Ballroom of the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street.

William T. Rollins, chairman of the Cancer Fund Committee, said the dance will begin at 9 a.m. and music will be provided by Pie Harvey's orchestra.

Prizes and entertainment will feature this year's dance. Rollins also said that all proceeds will be sent direct to Walter Winchell, treasurer of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund at New York City.

Thus far the Fraternal Order of Eagles throughout the entire jurisdiction has contributed $775,858.07 to this fund.

Fire Chiefs To Meet

The Allegany-Garrett County Fire Chiefs Association will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at District 16 Fire Company, North Branch.

Authorities in Cumberland said they believed this to be the first case of a conviction on a narcotics charge obtained in court here.

The damage suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court for the plaintiff.

The boy, Samuel Lee Glenn, who was 16 when the accident occurred, is claiming $10,000 damages through his father, who is also suing the defendant for $2,500.

The boy was struck by the truck as he was walking along U. S. Route 40 about 11 p.m. near the Vocke Road intersection.

He was taken to Memorial Hospital. The father claims he is supporting the boy and is seeking damages for hospital and medical care.

Investigating officers were Tfc. J. F. Browning and Trooper Robert Woldorf.

The broadened coverage under amendments to the Social Security law has increased the work load of local and district offices throughout the country, and new employees are being added by the administration.

At the local district office of Social Security, James E. Robertson, district manager, announced yesterday that two claims representative trainees have been added to his staff here.

Mrs. Phyllis P. White, 512 Louisiana Avenue, a daughter of former Mayor Thomas Post has transferred from the Veterans Administration to the Social Security Administration. She worked in the local VA office for the past two years and was formerly employed in the office of Employment Security here. Her husband, James H. White, is a mathematics teacher at Bruce High School, Westerport.

Mrs. Helen J. Wilbur comes here from her home in Arlington, Va. She is residing at 532 Cumberland Street. She is a graduate of Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, where she earned her A.B. Degree majoring in English. During her summer vacations she was employed in the Post Office Department and the United States Treasury personnel division. Her previous employment prior to coming to Cumberland was in the Smithsonian Institute.

Both assumed their duties yesterday.

W. Md. Railway Tax Appeal Is Set January 7

Judge See Rules On Postponement

Judge Ernest A. See of Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday ruled favorably on a motion to postpone a hearing on the Western Maryland Railway Company's tax assessment appeal case from November 12. He set January 7 as the new date for taking testimony.

The case involves an appeal from an assessment of $13,000,000 for 1955 on the holdings of the Western Maryland in West Virginia. Also involved is an appeal on the 1956 assessment of $15,000,000.

Under West Virginia law, such tax appeals are heard in the court of the county where the largest holdings are located. It was recalled that in 1942 a similar case was heard in Elkins, Randolph County, because the company had most of its holdings there at that time. Since, a shift has been made to Mineral County.

The assessment against the company is established by the Board of Public Works, and the company appealed a ruling on their 1954 assessment of $11,250,000. Judge See heard that appeal and set the assessment aside as "too high."

The attorney general's office, for the Board of Public Works and the state, carried the decision to the state Supreme Court. The higher court recently reversed Judge See and held the assessment was "proper one."

In the meantime, the Board of Public Works increased the assessment to $13,000,000 in 1955, and this case was appealed to the man's suspicious actions.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilia represented the state at the man's trial in Trial Magistrate Tolley yesterday afternoon. Tolley waived a trial by jury and was tried by Magistrate Mason who pronounced sentence when Tolley pleaded guilty to the charge.

The hearing was postponed until a decision was reached in the 1954 case by the higher court.

Before the 1955 case could be heard, the 1956 assessment figure of $15,000,000 had been levied.
